2023 GRADUATION FASHION SHOW

SOLAsta

Fashion, a microcosm guided by its own rules and hierarchies, has, through the door of creativity, entered a monumental stage. On 6th of May 2023, the Footwear Design and Development Institute (FDDI) Hyderabad presented "Solasta", a captivating graduation fashion show showcasing the exceptional talent of FDDI's graduating students.

Let's start with Akshata Chirravuri and Yadavendra Singh's collection 'Mina'; Drawing inspiration from the cultural motifs and intricate designs produced in Meenakumari art, they featured fitted tops, dresses, sleeves utilizing block printing, hand painting, laser cutting, bead & ornamental work creating a unique visual language. Surface Ornamentation has a certain appeal, but it was of-the-moment looks that elicited the wows. 'Zarafet' is another notable collection. The designers set out to create dramatic, alluring ensembles flaunting the sophisticated details present in the monumental work of Hagia Sophia.

“ Gender fluidity in fashion is gaining momentum, emerging from the shadows and becoming democratized across the gender spectrum.”

“ Gender fluidity in fashion is gaining momentum, emerging from the shadows and becoming democratized across the gender spectrum.” Gender neutral garments were a staple throughout the show. The collection 'Insane space' is an amazing example of gender fluid and boundary pushing constructions. Flirty ruffled sleeves, flowy long skirts and body hugging tops were notable and their message “let us avoid making anyone feel different” deeply resonated with everyone present in the room. While some collections catered to a particular segment, with vivid, bright pink tones and a dusky undertone palette, collections 'Aena' and 'Modest Momma' were adored. Acknowledging their efforts and problems, fashionable and practical silhouettes were curated to empower mothers.

No designer is an island, creations are the product of the hard work of many, rather than the individual genius. As designers, we are all aware of the struggle of local communities that rely on artisan skills for a livelihood, it isn't uncommon for these communities to be exploited. By collaborating with such artisans, a remarkable difference has been made. The collections 'Jaal' and 'Falgebo' deserves appreciation for how it has helped the local communities. Designers worked closely with the regional artisans to construct their unconventional and exquisite visionary designs, embracing natural fibers and dyes. Every garment was comfortable with a rustic and natural feel. The graduation fashion show served as a platform for these emerging designers to make their mark on the industry, expressing their unique voices and showcasing their innovative collections. Join us as we witness the birth of the next generation of fashion visionaries and immerse ourselves in the spellbinding world of "Solasta."

THE LABYRINTH

Moukthika Reddy and Satish Vadakattu

AWARD FOR MOST CREATIVE CONCEPT

The Labyrinth, according to Greek mythology, was an intricate and bewildering structure with countless winding passages, dead ends, and intricate corridors. The myth of the Labyrinth symbolizes the triumph of reason, courage and ingenuity over seemingly insurmountable challenges and represents the struggle between order and chaos.

The cultural representations of technology in popular media often plays a significant role in shaping our perceptions and expectations. These depictions can range from optimistic visions of technological progress to more cautionary tales and dystopian narratives.

AND INTRICATE CORRIDORS.

This collection designed by Moukthika Reddy and Satish Vadakattu takes in the idea of fictional exaggerations co-relating to the characteristics of this concept. The rich texture of velvet representing the human side and silver machine embroidery with quilt details representing the strong engulfing technology forms the base for this collection.

The garments were a series of dramatic elongated dresses with plays of asymmetrical designs. There were many showstoppers that gave rhythm to the collection, but the cobalt blue extended dress with a singular long sleeve embellished with foil detailing left everyone astounded.

INSANE SPACE

Aman Ashok, Kumari Ayushi, Riya Pratap, Pranjali Arora

AWARD FOR BEST CRAFT REVIVAL AND SUSTAINABILITY

Aman Ashok, Kumari Ayushi, Riya pratap and Pranjali Arora called their collection 'Insane Space' which is a celebration of fashion choices and experiments, where the designers pay an ode to the beautiful nuances of nature.

CELEBRATION OF FASHION CHOICES AND EXPERIMENTS...

The design was inspired by Arvey, a 10th-standard student, who loved things beyond his gender recognition, and chose to live his life on his own terms, but that made him an easy target for the society and hence was assaulted multiple times. The school failed him by not recognizing his pain and by making him believe that there was no reason for him to live. As a result of which, Arvey committed suicide. His life can never be an inspiration, but the choices he made in his life can be. His story motivated and gave courage to millions of people out there who love to experiment with their fashion choices.

HIS LIFE CAN NEVER BE AN INSPIRATION, BUT THE CHOICES HE MADE IN HIS LIFE CAN BE.

The collection is a true symbol of what nature has gifted us and how we choose to adore it. It depicts sustainability linked with rawness and the real side of nature. "let us avoid making anyone feel different"

"LET US AVOID MAKING ANYONE FEEL DIFFERENT"

The choice of materials and their colors gave the viewers a soothing experience. While raw jute has been used to create the awareness of nature, white has been used to indicate peace. With their bold statement pieces, the designers wanted to transport the viewers to a place of harmony and serenity, a place where everyone is in their element.

AWARD FOR BEST READY TO WEAR

Keerthana Alladi and Nandita Palisetti

Aarena

“The satisfaction we felt, after perfectly executing our vision in each piece was priceless”.

This acclaimed collection's inspiration was drawn from Lippan Kaam, an art form practiced by the rural women in Gujarat for decades. It has garnered the modern world's attention due to its intricate pattern and aesthetical appeal.

Keerthana Alladi and Nandita Palisetti's ultimate vision for this collection was to extend the presence of an art that is popular in interior design to the fashion field by creating a new combination of surface ornamentation techniques.

Inspired from Lippan Kaam, an art form practiced by the rural women in Gujarat for decades

“We combined mirror work (one of the oldest Indian techniques) with the Victorian technique rouleaux to reflect the inspiration of Lippan art”.

They were also inspired by the recent boom of mother-daughter outfits encouraging us to tap into that market. The color scheme hinted at toned down, dusky hues fused with beige undertones and they incorporated the major fashion trends from Spring / summer 2023 in their garments.

The gold beige jumpsuit and the showstopper Kali dress were personal favorites to the designers as well as the most challenging ones to execute.

“The satisfaction we felt, after perfectly executing our vision in each piece was priceless”.

They strongly believe that these surface ornamentation techniques can provide livelihood to the artisans of hand embroidery and bring a major and positive impact on the economy.

'The collection JAAL started with an idea that would not only showcase our creativity but also uplift the struggling handloom weavers of our country' say the designers.

Kumari Shwetangi, Prabhat Kumar, Ankit Kumar, Abhishek Kumar

“All this was possible after hours and hours of hard work. Each outfit was a testament to the traditional art of handloom weaving featuring intricate lattice patterns woven with love and care”

“THE SATISFACTION THAT CAME FROM MAKING A LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN THE LIVES OF WEAVERS WAS THE GREATEST FEELING FOR US.” .

They also took a notable decision by deciding to donate the earnings from the sale of all the 8 ensembles to the weavers which can uplift the creativity of artisans who are the backbone of our country's heritage. And by taking this step they brought a positive change in the lives of the weavers and made themselves & the whole college feel proud.

Mina

Akshata Chirravuri and Yadavendra Singh
AWARD FOR BEST SURFACE ORNAMENTATION

Believed to have originated from Persia, Minakari or Meenakari is the process of painting and coloring the surfaces of metals and ceramic tiles through enameling. It is practiced as an art form and commercially produced in Iran, India, Afghanistan, Pakistan.

Minakari art usually involves intricate designs and is applied as a decorative feature to serving dishes, containers, vases, frames, display ornaments and jewelry.

The word Meenakari is composed of the word Meena which means paradise or heaven and Kari which means a place to do something.

Taking inspiration from this, Akshata Chirravuri and Yadavendra Singh created a collection 'Mina' which is a resort wear collection that displays an exquisite union of block printing, laser cutting, the meticulous ornamental work, bead work, and hand painting, with motifs inspired by Persian art.

'MINA' IS A RESORT WEAR COLLECTION THAT DISPLAYS AN EXQUISITE UNION OF BLOCK PRINTING, LASER CUTTING AND MORE.

The fitted silhouettes flaunted various surface ornamentation techniques, colors, patterns, motifs on fabrics like denim and linen which captivated the viewers.

It's a hit collection that tells a story through its products where all the pieces work well together. The unique idea and designs is what set this collection apart from other collections and made it instantly recognisable.

FAGELBO

Deeksikha Ramaswamy, Shamili Sagar,
Pawan Nayini, Vakshika Latha

AWARD FOR BEST CRAFT REVIVAL

'Nature' and 'Artistic' were the two conceptual drivers framing the collection Fagelbo, showcased during the spectacle Graduation Fashion Show. The award winning collection surely left its mark.

Crocheting, one of the most time seeking and challenging constructions, infused the distinctive, raw, essential silhouettes with warmth, coziness, and with the impact of the beauty derived from nature inherit to the collections overall aesthetic.

"WE WERE HIGHLY INSPIRED
BY HOW A BIRD

BEAUTY OF IT IN OUR GARMENTS"

With the hook acting as the bird's beak and yarn acting as the material used to weave the nest, they delivered visually pleasing and operable garments perfect for Autumn/Winter 2024.

Many of the materials they embraced, embodied their concept : They used Cotton, Wool , Macrame, Tussar silk.

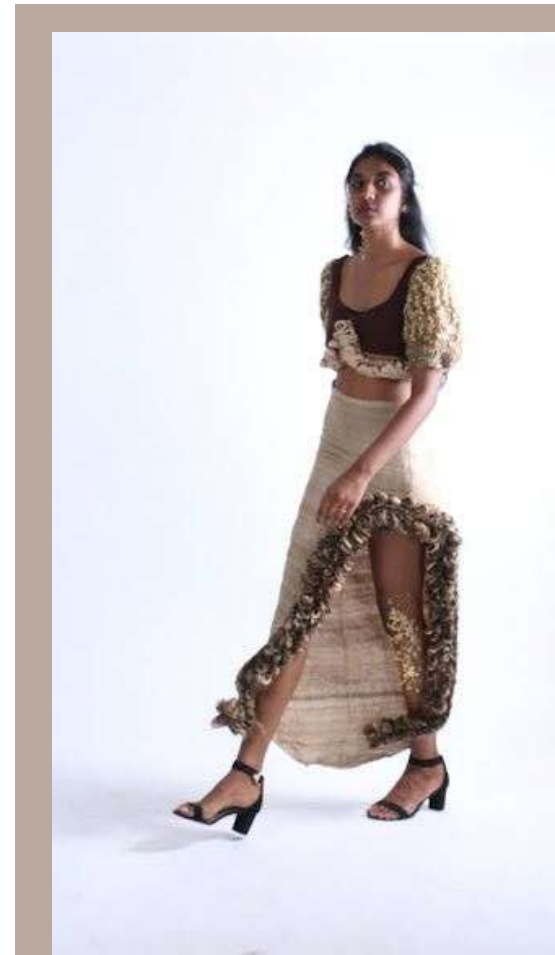

Their palette flowed in almost an organic way, with colors and yarns based around the hues of wood, dry leaves and stones.

“THIS COLLECTION IS ALL ABOUT NATURE PLAY THROUGH UNIQUE AND SUBDUED COLORS, PATTERNS, AND FORMS”

With the help of 7 talented women hailing from Narsapur, Telangana , they could bring their visionary designs to life. Narsapur, known for the work of lacework and crochet, has over 700 women dedicated to the craft. For a span of 20 days, the designers were living, interacting and working with the artisans.

“WE HAD A LOT TO LEARN AND TEACH. THEIR EXCITEMENT, HAPPINESS, AND THEIR HELPING NATURE THROUGHOUT MADE THE WHOLE JOURNEY MEMORABLE AND WORTH IT”

ZARAFET

Sanjana Annavazzala, Meghna Menon, Manasa Rajeshwari, Snehasini

AWARD FOR MOST CREATIVE CONCEPT

The Hagia Sophia in Istanbul, is considered to be one of the oldest monuments in history. While it looks so facile from outside, the inside of the monument is a different world altogether, with intricate carvings and extravagant architecture.

Spring/Summer collection that seamlessly merges historical elements with contemporary design

Building on this captivating allure, the designers of the Zarafet Sanjana Annavazzala, Meghna Menon, Manasa Rajeshwari, Snehasini set out to create a Spring/Summer collection that seamlessly merges historical elements with contemporary design aesthetics, luxurious fabrics, and creative pattern making.

“The ultimate vision for this collection was to craft a range of garments that would be both timeless and relevant in today's fashion landscape”. To achieve this vision, the designers embarked on a meticulous process that involved studying historical references, incorporating them into modern silhouettes, and utilizing high-quality fabrics.

“THE ULTIMATE VISION FOR THIS COLLECTION WAS TO CRAFT A RANGE OF GARMENTS THAT WOULD BE BOTH TIMELESS AND RELEVANT IN TODAY'S FASHION LANDSCAPE”.

The collection's concept revolved around the notion that the more you reveal, the more you discover, akin to the experience of exploring the hidden wonders within the Hagia Sophia itself.

The meticulous attention to detail, luxurious fabrics, and creative pattern making bring the historical elements to life in a modern and captivating manner.

While sustainability was not a specific focus in this collection, the designers aimed to highlight the importance of responsible fashion practices. With their target audience in mind, they sought to connect glamor and elegance with their fashion creations, appealing to individuals who appreciate the artistry and craftsmanship behind innovative designs.

MODEST MOMMA

Sai Vaishnavi, Sohini Yadav, Ammana Srineeja

AWARD FOR BEST PRELINE COLLECTION

Modest Momma, represents the place in the heart of all mothers where their dreams and wonder of their children live. This collection speaks to the mothers as well as their child providing a long-term and sensible solution to the problems with current maternity wear.

The designers have managed to look at fashion through the lens of both a mother and a child's eyes and have created a collection that exhibits the influences of real life experiences of new mothers.

This collection utilizes a fantastic theme that closely symbolizes motherhood in a kangaroo.

The dresses in this collection can be worn before, during, and after pregnancy, from the first to the ninth month. Each garment has pockets placed at different parts of the garment. The pockets can be removed, relocated and replaceable as per the need. Their aim is to make this collection more trendy and functional to meet the existing challenges including the "gen z" concept.

"SHE" IS THE ONLY FORCE ON EARTH POWERFUL ENOUGH TO NAVIGATE UNBORN SPIRITS ON THIS PLANET

This collection helps empower women to go to work while putting themselves first and feeling more at ease in their own flesh, even after the rapid changes to their physical and mental state. The human experience is inherently emotional, where the female being has been chosen by the creator as the portal between the spiritual realm and the physical realm. "SHE" is the only force on earth powerful enough to navigate unborn spirits on this planet, Motherhood is such a transformative journey that takes you on a whirlwind of emotions and adventures.
